Showing a saturated golden color, the 2010 Taburno Falanghina Facetus is a layered and powerful wine that has aged with grace. The bouquet is redolent of candied fruit, dried apricot, butterscotch, crushed stone and light spice. It delivers a muscular, oxidative style with 14.5% alcohol that definitely stands out. Facetus shows the aging ability of Falanghina and is a white wine that can pair with red wine foods like roasted chicken or fried codfish. It should hold for five more years, maybe more.
